

Lesson 2 Book Assignment – Jordan Price

This whole world is completely new to me. I have always been interested in cameras and loved watching behind the scenes YouTube videos, and have always said, “That will be me one day.” Currently my most favorite aspect of the cinematography world is the camera operator. As I previously stated, cameras have always been a point of interest for me. I love the way they work and I love being able to capture a story line in a photo or video. I tend to have an artistic eye for some things, but still have a lot to learn and experience before I become even remotely close to operating in the real world! Selecting this as my favorite aspect will encourage me to learn about it more in further detail to set myself up for success in my career. I am not set on this decision, so as I go along this course, I’m excited to open my range of knowledge and learn and experience new things! Who knows, it might change my favorite aspect of this world!
