

1. It is one of the most unique and original films ever made. It is so successful because it combines two very different genres, the sci-fi thriller and the romantic comedy, and seamlessly blends them into one. The movie has a stellar cast and attracts viewers from all demographics (except children) due to the range of themes touched on in the film.
2. The Maltese Falcon, The Thing, The Magnificent Seven (which was actually remade again in 2017).
3. The key to good genre mashing is to be able to fill your story with themes from different genres without disrupting the narrative or the story.
4. After hitting rock bottom, a dedicated method actor dives into the most complex role of his career, resulting in unexpected consequences for everyone involved.