

Tragedy Media

A Motion Picture,

Gary's Pink Bathroom

Love WILL Kill

Summery:

Tragedy writer Brandon Russell's creation of how a finally found happy life can turn sour in the midst of seconds. A once loved doctor is drafted into the nazi army only to be captured by the allied troops of Britain. Taking a deal he begins to work for the troops to rehabilitate the POW's who have been saved by Adolf's mass murder. When working he meets many people he comes to enjoy but falls in love with one patient impaticularar. Once he is freed after the catostrophic war he finds himself married and in a new job as a proffesor at a college, but with relief comes a few problems. He soon later stumbles and finds his lover in the war, and slowly starts his even newer life with them, but only rises more problems, with drugs, cheatings, and later on violence that changes our struggling main charcter's life forever.

Phase of the production; finishing up the script and finding producers

Since the beginning it's been heart set on finishing this script and finding a producer to help start it up. It takes time in germany during WWII and takes you on a journey threw different people who struggled in the war other than one party, so I have more than enough confidence that some one would enjoy the project, but as time has came and I've met other people in the industry something thoughts have convinced me I could just make a romance and not a full blown murder tragedy, so if the ideas are taken than that will push me back a bit, if not taken than we will just need touch ups and ready to be sold.

