

Budget plan for My incredible feature length film.

First, Im going to finish writing my script.

Second, I'm going to re-write it.

Third, I may show it to a couple people and see if they like it.

Fourth, It may sit in a file on my computer for eight months or so.

.....Continue reading on next page

Fifth, I may read it again on a rainy day and decide to make a third draft.

Sixth, I may give Film connection a call and be “that guy” that wants them to set up a pitch in LA after not being a student for the last 10 months because my life has been nothing but busy for the last two years and now is the only time I have a decent amount of money saved after spending ‘the wad’ on a wedding and honeymoon.

Seventh, I will give a pitch to some no-name producer of some sort and really try to impress him/her but feel like trash the whole time because no one ever comes out of these pitches with a full green light on a film.

Eighth, If I am somehow funded to make my incredible feature length movie, I will take this assignment seriously and probably go back and read the 21st chapter because it seemed to have a lot of good financial information.

.....Gabe Metz